

Welcome to San Francisco: A Newcomer's Eating Tour
We consulted with local food experts to compile this list of 10 great places to hit on your newcomer's eating tour of San Francisco.

Stones Throw

1896 Hyde St.

Perhaps the most-exciting thing about the San Francisco food scene is that it defies trendiness or expectations. Stones Throw is a little neighborhood restaurant that has modern dishes with European, Asian and Mexican influences, as well as other dishes that simply cannot be categorized at all, except to say they are delicious.

Must-Try Dishes at Stones Throw

The puffed potato with eggs, cauliflower mousse, chives and crispy chicken skin has a combination of textures, which makes it irresistible: Bite into the crunchy croquettes and they ooze egg yolk.

Read more at:

http://www.foodnetwork.com/restaurants/photos/newcomer_s-eating-tour-of-san-francisco.html?oc=linkback

